LARGEST RABBINICAL ASSEMBLY MEETS HERE

NON-JEWISH THEOLOGIANS TO HEAR RABBI HESCHEL

CONSERVATIVE LEADERS TO DISCUSS EDUCATION

(by a staff writer)

Twenty-five Christian theologians, Catholic and Protestant, will attend the international convention of the Rabbinical Assembly, the organization of Conservative rabbis, which opens this coming Sunday evening at Toronto's Inn-On-The-Park. These non-Jewish theologians will attend a session when scholar Dr. Abraham Joshua Heschel of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America will deliver a major address on coexistence of religions

Close to 500 Rabbis will meet in Toronto next week to participate in this annual rally.

PEARSON TO ADDRESS RABBIS

Dr. Stuart E. Rosenberg, Rabbi of Toronto's Beth Tzedec Synagogue, will chair this first rally of Conservative rabbis held outside the United States. The convention will close Wednesday night with a convocation session at Beth Tzedec addressed by the Rt. Hon. Lester B. Pearson, Prime Minister of Canada.

Another interesting feature of the convention will be a special session dedicated to the idea of rapprochement between Orthodox, Reform and Conservative Jews in the area of Jewish education. A leading Orthodox intellectual Prof. Marvin Fox of Ohio State University, will address this session. Others on this panel will be: Rabbi Seymour Fox, Dean of the Teachers Institute of the Jewish Theological Seminary (Conservative); Rabbi Alexander M. Schindler, Director of Education of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations (Reform).

A highlight of the convention will be a special report on the Soviet Union by the famous author, Elie Wiesel, who recently has returned from the Soviet Union. The convention also will discuss, in a closed session, the problem of Zionism and the need of the Zionist organization. Rabbi Max J. Routtenberg, president of the Rabbinical Assembly will discuss the changing role of the rabbi in our society.

NOTES SIMILARITY

Hailing the Assembly's meeting in Toronto, Rabbi Stuart E. Rosenberg, convention chairman and spiritual leader of Toronto's Congregation Beth Tzedec, cited the close relationship between Canada and the United States:

"....It is a sister community, younger and smaller, but not without similar problems. It shares a common origin, a common religious faith and a common cultural heritage and faces the same problem of group survival". He added: "Canada's Jewish population which now stands at 267,000 does make, however, the problem of Jewish survival in Canada more acute. Today the population of Jews in Canada is less than the Jewish population of the United States in 1780 and of Great Britain in 1919; it is about the same as the present Jewish population of Chicago, Ill....."

In pointing to the guarantees provided in the British North American Act for safeguarding the language and religion of the French Canadian minority and the "tenacity" with which various other Canadian ethnic groups have preserved their traditions and group lives, Rabbi Rosenberg said:

"There has developed here a realization that cultural traditions of the many and varied immigrant groups have a validity and a vitality of their own and must be recognized as part of the fabric of Canadian life. This explains why the level of Jewish education in Canada, for a Jewish community this size, reaches greater heights all the time".

GROMYKO SPURNS DELEGATION

ROME, (JCNS) — According to reliable sources, efforts by a group of Italian Jewish intellectuals to be received by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko during his official visit last week to Rome, in order to submit a petition in regard to Soviet Jewry, were unsuccessful.

U.S.S.R. And The Jews: Right And Wrong Approach

LONDON, ENGLAND.—I observed here an organized campaign for a demonstration by bona fide Jewish groups appealing to the Soviet Union for a change in its policy towards the Jews there. This time the demonstration was sponsored officially by Jewish student bodies.

To my great sorrow, I noticed again the usual carelessness on the part of the promoters of this manifestation against the Soviet Union, a carelessness bordering on irresponsibility.

My friends here with whom I discussed the problem agreed that my criticism was valid, on one point at least—that is, one of the slogans of the demonstrators: the right of the Jews to emigrate from the Soviet Union.

I've always felt, when it comes to proclaiming before the world at large Jewish demands—be it in the area of human rights or in support of the Jewish state—there is a flood of slogans and verbiage. We never seem able to remove the essential from the non-essential; the possible, the feasible, the logical seem to become lost in a sea of words. Hence we note so little success in the battle waged by organizations despite their substantial leadership and large staff.

Here is where I wish to state clearly: to ask the Soviet Union that it declare publicly that Jews may leave the country would be tantamount to having Moscow agree that the position of the Jews within its borders is perilous to the point where they cannot live there—that the three million Jews must escape the land where their forefathers, Jews ,have lived for centuries. Such a demand must be considered by Moscow impertinent. For while it is true that there is no real equality for Jews in the area of cultural and religious life, no one of sound mind will say that the Jews within the Soviet Union are being persecuted bodily in such manner as to force them to become refugees. Were it even so, a great power like Soviet Russia—a power which claims to have solved the problem of racialism and antisemitism—never would admit for the record that such a situation exists. However, the fact remains that there is no problem of the sort. So why should Jews be singled out for the "right to emigrate"?

Of course there is no opportunity for the Russian Jews to organize their Jewish cultural and religious community, there are no Jewish schools nor enough synagogues, no rabbinical seminary—all these institutions that are pertinent to the spiritual survival of the people. Nevertheless these have little to do with the physical existence of the individual Jew.

There are areas of employment where discrimination is manifested because Jews are looked upon as "cosmopolites", a people with an international, universal, truly catholic outlook. Therefore very few Jews are engaged in foreign service and other government agencies while they play a predominant role in the nuclear science field where they are irreplaceable.

These are the points in dispute Russia should be asked to solve.

It is childish, nay, infantile, to expect the Soviet government to accept the "Zionist" theory that Jews there are foreigners, potential emigrés, a stateless people in pursuit of a new homeland. Most of the Jews in Russia, I am convinced, love their country; they want to remain. However, they also long for the right to be Jews in the spiritual, cultural and religious sense.

Thus the slogans prepared for such a student-demonstration as the one held here in England achieve one purpose only: they provoke the ire of the Kremlin and cause the Russian government to become completely insensitive to the very relevant and logical demands that its Jews be given the privileges enjoyed by other minorities. What liberal, public opinion outside the Soviet union demands is that the Soviet constitutional rights vis-à-vis Jews as a religious and cultural minority be enforced—that they do not remain a lettre morte.

Anything else is contrary to a pragmatic approach to the problem of Soviet Jews: it will do more harm than good.

Of course, for those groups interested in meaningless demonstrations, in cheap publicity, the changes they demand are irrelevant. They know no one takes them seriously. All they achieve is headlines.

But to all of us for whom the problem of Jewish survival as a religious community in Soviet Russia is of predominant concern, such irresponsible talk is most dangerous. I sincerely hope these expressions are not repeated during any Canadian demonstration for the right of Soviet Jews to remain Jews.

CRITICIZE EXCESSIVE GOLDMANN PRAISE FOR DR. ADENAUER ROLE

SURVIVORS ASK SPLIT FROM WORLD JEWISH CONGRESS OVER BONN

DEMAND ONTARIO REGION ACT ACCORDING TO ITS POLICY

BY THE CANADIAN JEWISH NEWS REPORTER

The Canadian Jewish Congress soon may face a very grave, internal crisis because of statements made in Israel last week by Dr. Nahum Goldmann during former Chancelor Konrad Adenauer's visit there. Dr. Goldmann, who at several occasions hailed Dr.Adenauer, made his declarations to the West German leader in the name of Jews outside Israel as president of the World Zionist Organization and the World Jewish Congress. The Canadian Jewish Congress is affiliated with the World Jewish Congress, thus the words of Dr. Goldmann — his thanks to the former Chancelor and his hope for reconciliation with the German people — were made also in the name of the Canadian Jewish Congress.

Because very recently the Canadian Jewish Congress, through its Central Region, publicly engaged itself in a policy opposing the reconciliation with West Germany, the same circles which pressured this organization to fight any attempt for such an approach to German-Jewish relations now will demand a public statement against Dr. Nahum Goldmann and against the World Jewish Congress. If these circles consistently pursue their policy — and they have become very influential within the Central Region of the Canadian Jewish Congress —, Congress is in for a period of tumultuous and riotous meetings. The Canadian Jewish News learned that the leaders of the Congress will try to appease this vociferous group. Yet because of the fact that Congress went on the record of an anti-German policy, especially vis-a-vis West Germany, it may be forced by these elements, supporting the so-called "Anti-Nazi Committee", to state publicly its views on Dr. Nahum Goldmann's cordial reception for Dr. Adenauer.

CLARITY DEMANDED

Sources close to these so-called anti-Nazi groups now influencing Congress policy here told The Canadian Jewish News that unless the leadership of the Canadian Jewish Congress clearly and unequivocally disassociates itself from Dr. Nahum Goldmann's position taken during Adenauer's visit in Jerusalem, it will be accused of exploiting the Congress machinery for personal feuds.

WHAT HAPPENED IN ISRAEL?

As Dr. Adenauer concluded his visit in Israel this week, following essential features of this historic event emerged:

• Though his visit had been originally scheduled as private, the elder statesman of West Germany, 90-year-old Konrad Adenauer, had been welcomed officially to the Jewish state. At the airport he was welcomed by Foreign Minister Abba Eban, who greeted him with the traditional Hebrew blessing,Barukh Tihye Bevoakha (Be blessed in thy coming); David Ben Gurion and Dr. Nahum Goldmann. While Eban and Ben Gurion welcomed him on behalf of the State of Israel, Dr. Goldmann spoke for the "Jewish people", the World Jewish Congress of which the Canadian Jewish Congress is an integral part. Addressing the former Chancellor who had signed the original Reparations Deal, Mr.Eban stated on behalf of Israel:

"Your deeds for your country and for the unity of Europe are remarkable, but at this moment the citizens of Israel are thinking most of all of your profound understanding of the Jewish tragedy as we welcome you in the name of the government."

HISTADRUT WELCOMES ADENAUER

• Among the outstanding newspapers, Davar, the official daily of the Histadrut which speaks for the government, reminded the people:

"Dr. Konrad Adenauer is the official guest of the State of Israel and we are certain that he will be treated as such by the Israeli people, as he is entitled to be, because of his status and the comprehension he evinced for the heinous nature of the Nazi crimes against the Jewish people."

Davar then continued editorially to praise Dr. Adenauer's successor, Dr. Ludwig Erhard, with the following words:

"At this juncture, we have no reason to say that Dr. Adenauer's successor does not manifest similar understanding for all matters pertaining to the moral and political significance of the attitude towards Israel."

Haaretz, Israel's leading daily, stated editorially: "Dr. Konrad Adenauer is entitled to visit Israel and should be treated as an illustrious guest."

Even Hatzofeh, the daily of the National Religious Party (Mizrachi), concluded editorially: "From the Jewish point of view, there is no need to identify oneself with all of Adenauer's doings in order to appreciate his work for Israel."

HERUT OPPOSES WELCOME

Among the newspapers opposed to Adenauer's visit (besides the Communists and extreme Leftist press) was the newspaper, Hayom, which speaks for Herut, a party consistently opposed to any dealings with West Germany.

ORTHODOX RABBIS MEET IN MONTREAL; WILL DISCUSS CONVERSION, THE PILL

MONTREAL (CJN). — Many leading Orthodox rabbis, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, will converge in Montreal on Monday, May 16th, to attend an all-day conference at the Young Israel of Val Royal, 2855 Victor Dore Street. The Rabbis who belong to the Rabbinical Council of Canada will discuss vital issues confronting Orthodoxy today, according to Rabbi Irving Rosner, spiritual leader of Young Israel of Val Royal and convention chairman. Also papers relating to the general theme of the convention—The Changing and Unchanging Role of the Orthodox Rabbi in a Changing World — will be read by members of the Rabbinical Council.

The convention will deal with items such as the Jewish view of birth control, the Beth Din (religious tribunal) vis-à-vis the secular courts, more rigid standards in adoptions and conversions and the attitude toward dialogues with other faith-communities.

At one of its sessions, elections to the executive of the Rabbinical Council of America, Montreal Region, will be held. Rabbi Joseph Grunblatt of the Shevet Achim Congregation, the current president, will deliver the annual president's report. Nominated for office for the coming year are: Rabbi Joseph Grunblatt, immediate past president; Rabbi Irving Rosner, Young Israel of Val Royal, president; Rabbi Sidney Shohem, Beth Zion Congregation, 1st vice president; Rabbi Israel Housman, Adath Jeshuran Congregation, 2nd vice president; Rabbi Lester Rosner, Congregation Beth Hamedrash Hagodol-Tifereth Israel, treasurer; Rabbi Mordecai Zeitz, Beth Tikve Congregation, secretary; Guest speaker will be Harav David Cohen, Rosh Yeshiva and dean of the Gur-Aryeh Academy of Higher Jewish Research of New York.

The Rabbinical Council of Canada, which is sponsoring the convention, is in its third year of existence. Its president, Rabbi Bernard Rosensweig of Toronto's Shaarei Tefilah Congregation, will deliver the annual president's report.

Beth Jacob High School Building Already Started

Several hundred leading members of Toronto's Orthodox Jewish community gathered this past Sunday on the grounds of the new Beth Jacob High School for Girls, Lawrence Avenue West, for the impressive turning of the sod. Despite the cold weather, the hundreds of assembled patiently remained for the duration of the ceremony during which they were addressed by Rabbi Yaacov Weinberg, Rosh Yeshiva of Toronto's Ner Israel Yeshiva College.

The exercises were presided over by Rabbi M. J. Bobrowsky, president. Rabbi Akiva Stephansky, principal stressed in a moving address the significance of this historic day for Beth Jacob.

Rabbi Weinberg declared in his brief message that Beth Jacob — the House of Jacob —, the women who inspire their children with the love of Torah and study, is the basis for Jewish survival. Without the committed woman, the one who understands the significance of Torah education, there is no future for Judaism, Rabbi Weinberg concluded. Thus this day, when construction has begun for the new building of Beth Jacob High School and Teachers' College, is a significant date in the history of the development of our community.

Rabbi Bobrowsky, chairman, thanked all assembled and invited the leading personalities of the community to participate in the sod turning.

Cantor Zigelman concluded the exercises with a recital of psalm.

The new building of Beth Jacob, according to the architects' plan, will be one of the most impressive edifices in our community.

AT TORONTO'S CENOTAPH. - Wreath-laying ceremony marking the 21st anniversary of Europe's liberation from Nazi oppression, which was commemorated on Sunday, May 8th, V-E Day, at the old City Hall cenotaph by the Association of Survivors of Nazi Oppression. Homage was paid to the Canadian Armed Forces who gave their lives for the liberation of mankind.
Participating with the Association of Survivors were the General Wingate Branch No. 256 of the R. C. L., the N-3, the Polish Legion units as well as various Jewish societies and organizations.
The ceremony was conducted by Dr. Henry Fenigstein, chairman of the Toronto branch of Nazi Oppression.
More then one hundred people participated in the march to the cenotaph. The salute was taken by Harvey Lister, president of General Wingate Branch.
Wreaths were laid by representatives of the General Wingate Branch, the Polish units, the N-3 and the Association of Survivors of Nazi Oppression.

ASSOCIATED DINNER CHAIRMAN SHAINHOUSE

(By a Staff Reporter)

Samuel Shainhouse, who has been chosen chairman of the 41st annual dinner of Toronto's Associate Hebrew Schools, is one of the most popular younger leaders of the Jewish community. A dedicated Zionist and believer in Hebrew education since his earliest youth, Sam Shainhouse always has served faithfully and loyally the cause of Zion reborn and of the renaissance of Hebrew culture.

The Shainhouses have absorbed this love for Jewish lore, tradition and dedication to the cause of Jewish survival in their parents' home. Abraham Shainhouse, their father, a typical Litvak, had immigrated to Canada with the determination to build here a house of living Judaism as he had seen it in his native Lithuania, the greatest center of Torah in the history of our people. Mr. Shainhouse, Sr., is a known Talmid Haham and Hebrew scholar. He had been a close friend of the late scholarly Rabbi Jacob Gordon. Thus he imbued in his children—Oscar, Louis, Sam and daughter—an interest in studying Hebrew and transmitting our culture in turn to their children

When Sam Shainhouse presides at the 41st Associated Hebrew Schools Dinner on June 8th, he will feel very much at home. A graduate of the Brunswick Avenue Talmud Torah, one of the original schools of Associated. Sam and his wife Beatrice are the parents of three students of the Associated School system. Of their four children, one is a pupil of the Associated Day School; one, in junior high; one, in grade XII of Toronto Hebrew High School. For many years, Sam and Beatrice Shainhouse have been active in the promotion of this school system, one of the best known on the North American continent for its high standard.

His love for Jewish lore inherited: Sam Shainhouse.

In the Zionist movement, Sam Shainhouse is known for his active role in the Zionist Revisionist Organization as president of the Toronto organization.

All Shainhouses play a part in the United Jewish Appeal and in other leading community endeavors.

RABBINATE AND MIXED MARRIAGES

TEL AVIV (JCNS) — Any Israeli who wishes to marry a non-Jew without the latter becoming a convert to Judaism "should not remain a Jew. He should leave the faith because he does not believe in it".

Saying this in a radio interview, the Israeli Deputy Minister of the Interior, Dr. Israel Ben-Meir, rejected the idea of civil marriage. It would split the Jewish community in Israel, he said, and would create difficulties over marriages between the children of religious marriages and those of parents married under civil law.

KAUFMAN LAUDS FARBAND U.J.A. ROLE

The members of the Farband Labour Zionist Order of Toronto are well on the way to a record campaign on behalf of the 1966 United Jewish Appeal. Special tribute was paid by Campaign Chairman, Morris B. Kaufman, to Mr. Samuel Cooper, Chairman of the Farband Committee, at a meeting which was attended by over 200 volunteers and representatives of all the Branches.

Mr. Kaufman pointed out that in 1965, out of 1200 members, almost 500 contributed more than $100,000 to the campaign. He expressed the hope that a considerably larger number of members would make more substantial gifts in the current campaign.

The Farband leadership has undertaken to conduct a Blitz Day where volunteers will visit members on Sunday to make sure that every household will be approached on behalf of the United Jewish Appeal. Mr. Kaufman emphasized the fact that these individual gifts are in addition to what is being subscribed by members of the organization through their own Trades and Professions. The hundreds of small contributors who can be reached only through this unified effort add greatly to the ultimate success of the campaign.

Inspired by the warmhearted appeal made by Mr. Kaufman, the volunteers pledged to give all their time during the next few weeks to guarantee the successful conclusion of the campaign. Mr. Cooper assured the U.J.A. leaders that every member of the Farband, and every Jewish home in the neighbourhood will be canvassed in this year's effort to reach the goal of our $3,000,000. On the basis of the increases received to date, and the greater number of contributors who have made pledges, Mr. Cooper estimates that $200,000 could be reached in the Farband ranks.

Among others who participated in the meeting were Hye Kirshenbaum, chairman of the Farband; and Al Schwab, Executive Director.

have served as the very foundation of the Babylonian Talmud; there are, yet, instances where he is accorded the status of a Tanna and permitted to contest tannaitic teachings. Some of his teachings are also quoted as Baraitha, and there he is referred to as Rabbi Abba.

In the realm of Kashruth, Rav's opinions were accepted as finally binding; his unexplained mastery here may be due to his having spent eighteen months as a shepherd's boy so as to familiarize himself with the physiology and habits of livestock.

Also noteworthy are his contributions to Jewish liturgy. He is the author of the prayer for the New Moon, part of which (Authorized Daily Prayer Book [1962], p. 205), and the prayer "It is our duty to praise" (שלעלינו), originally composed for the Rosh Hashana ritual and afterwards accepted for utterance at the end of the three daily services.

Rav's virtuosity in Halachah is no way lessened his prowess in Aggadah. Among Babylonian sages, he is by far the most prolific in Aggadah, inventing hundreds of aggadic sayings and aphorisms.

Bath-Qol

Although the exact purport of the term Bath-Qol is obscure, we do have a clear picture of its use in talmudic literature. While it is commonly translated "heavenly voice", there are several instances where Bath-Qol has no celestial connotation, but refers rather to an does not enter a ruin — the reasons are not given here but are set out in detail in the next Baraitha to be discussed by the Gemara; 2) In certain circumstances, one may pray on the road; and, if so, 3) one should say a short prayer, i.e., תפלה קצרה.

The Baraitha relates that in the ruin Rabbi Jose heard a bath-qol. We prefer to leave the term bath-qol (lit. 'daughter of voice') untranslated, as its exact meaning is difficult to determine. In Sanh. 11a, the Tosaphoth try to explain that it is not really a voice from heaven but a kind of resonance; whether it would be correct to translate bath-qol as 'celestial echo' is questionable.

The content of these celestial utterances needs no comment. We would, however, draw attention to an interesting point incidentally made by the Tosaphoth in connection with the words: May His great name be blessed! — a congregational response taken from the very familiar Kaddish prayer. The wording of this in our current prayer books is in Aramaic, whereas our talmudic quotation, as far as it goes, has it mainly in Hebrew (we shall speak of this question of language later). The Tosaphoth's first concern is to determine the exact meaning of the text of the response, as found in prayer books: יהא שמה מברך לעלם ולעלמי עלמיא.

These words apparently lend theinselves to two possible interpretations. According to Mahzor Vitry (compiled by Simha ben Samuel of Vitry, a pupil of Rashi), the Tosaphoth say, the sentence must be read in two parts, putting, as it were, a comma after the word מברך. The response would then be taken to HEADS ZIONIST ORGANIZATION — Longtime Zionist, Max Goody was elected president of the Zionist Organization, Central Division, at its 27th regional convention recently held in London, Ontario.

Samuel Kelner, Toronto lawyer, was elected regional vice-president and will continue to retain the United Israel Appeal Chairmanship with Milton Harris of London, vice-chairman. Stephen E. Berger of Toronto was reelected treasurer (and chairman of the treasury board) while Mrs. M. Smolack of the Hadassah Organization of Toronto will assume the honorary secretaryship.

Since his early youth, the newly elected president Max Goody has been an active Zionist who has occupied a variety of important positions in the organizations, as well as in Jewish community life generally. Born in Saskatchewan, he received his Hebrew and secular education in Winnipeg; he moved to Toronto in 1936.

He is the past president of Ajalon Lodge and past national vice-president of the Zionist Men's Association of Canada. Mr. Goody is one of the founders and past president of B'nai Israel-Beth David Congregation.

He now occupies the post of vice-president of the United Synagogue of America, Ontario Region, and also is the national chairman of education and information of the Zionist Organization of Canada.

FOR THE RECORD: CANADA'S ROLE

Dear Editor,

In your issue of April 22 you carried an article concerning three Israelis who had been turned over to the authorities of the U.A.R. by a patrol of the United Nations Emergency Force last August, after they had crossed the Armistice Demarcation Line separating Israel and the U.A.R. The article appeared to criticize Canada for not securing their release.

In the discharge of its functions, the U.N. Emergency Force — to which Canada contributes a contingent — operates under the direction of U.N. Headquarters in New York. The personnel in the Force therefore receive their instructions from the U.N., and not from their national governments. The rules under which the Force operates in patrolling the frontier have been laid down by international agreement.

When the incident took place in August, the Canadian Embassy in Tel Aviv immediately did seek information about it from the U.N.E.F. officials and, during the ensuing months, the Embassy did follow closely the course of the negotiations in which the U.N.E.F. assisted. These eventually led to the release of the Israelis in exchange for prisoners held by the Israeli Government.

Your article stated that some Israelis have criticized Canadian participation in U.N.E.F. You might therefore be interested in knowing that during his visit to Canada in February the Foreign Minister of Israel, Mr. Abba Eban, told the Press that he considered that the continued presence of the U.N. Emergency Force on the U.A.R. frontier was "absolutely essential" and that, although participation in U.N.E.F. might be a burden to Canada, he hoped that we would be able to continue.

FACTS ABOUT BAIS YEHUDA

Dear Editor:

In the April 29th issue of The Canadian Jewish News, there was a letter signed by Arnold Perel commenting on the official closing of the Bais Yehuda Synagogue building. While everyone has the right to express opinions on matters of communal concern, it is strange to find a person who never was a member of our synagogue interpret actions that took place, and stranger still, "be prophetic" enough to suggest that very shortly the name, Bais Yehuda, would be removed from the Beth Emeth Bais Yehuda Synagogue. This and other matters that he wrote about are of internal concern to the new organization and do not even warrant an answer. The harmony and cooperation that have existed since the amalgamation of these two synagogues is evident in the progress that Beth Emeth Bais Yehuda has made since that time.

There was one statement that must be answered: the suggestion we were not concerned about Jewish education for the youngsters of our area. Bais Yehuda Talmud Torah, which was a model school, was kept open by the Beth Emeth Bais Yehuda Synagogue several years longer than really was required. As a matter of fact, six years ago the Bureau of Jewish Education of Toronto advised us to close the school because the children would be better accommodated and receive better education in other schools. However, it was kept open even after the amalgamation took place despite the fact that it was against all sound educational and communal thinking. One of the main attractions in considering the amalgamation lay in the wonderful record the young Beth Emeth congregation had established in a short period of providing educational facilities for all Jewish children in its area. Because Bais Yehuda was proud of its own educational record, it knew that the same tradition of servicing the entire Jewish community would be maintained, as it has been, under the jurisdiction of the Beth Emeth Bais Yehuda Synagogue and the Beth Emeth Bais Yehuda Associated Talmud Torah and Day School.

It is regrettable that the movement of population necessitated the closing of the Bais Yehuda building. However, unlike many other downtown institutions which were closed, Bais Yehuda had the foresight and responsibility to ensure that not only would its name and traditions be maintained but that the efforts and co-operation of its experienced members would help a young congregation which, despite its youth and financial obligations, had developed a remarkable sense of communal responsibility.

The building of the sanctuary of the Beth Emeth Bais Yehuda took place only after the educational facilities had been well established; today there are approximately 1,000 Jewish children receiving Jewish education here.

The public has a right to be informed of the true facts from people who have demonstrated their loyalties to Bais Yehuda and amalgamation with a model synagogue.

ISRAELI DIPLOMAT TO VISIT TORONTO. - Moshe Yuval, distinguished Israeli diplomat who has served as Ambassador of Israel to Australia and New Zealand, will visit Toronto on Thursday, May 19th, to address two special Israel Bond groups. The CHEN workers of the Women's Division will meet Mr. Yuval at a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Morris Zweig, National Vice-Chairman of the Women's Division. Leaders of Organizations and Landsmanshaften will have an opportunity to confer with Mr. Yuval at a Reception at Shaarei Tefillah Congregation that evening, May 19th. An expert on Foreign Affairs, Mr. Yuval is eminently qualified to report to Toronto's Israel Bond leadership on Israel's current economic achievements which have a vital bearing on the success of its historic revival as a state.

KEEP SMILING

ADAMANT

First young wife: I hear that your husband has given up smoking. Considering how much he used to smoke, it must have taken a strong will.

Second young wife: Well, that's the kind of a will I've got.

CHAPLIN HUMOR

Charlie Chaplin was entertaining some friends at a Hollywood party, giving imitations of famous people. When he began to sing in a beautiful, clear, rich voice, one of the guests remarked, amazed: "Why, Charlie, I didn't know you could sing!"

"I can't," replied Charlie. "I'm just imitating Caruso."

TAKEN AWAY

At one of his lectures on Wagner, the late Walter Damrosch reminisced:

"When I look at your young, shining, girlish faces, I recognize many who attended my first Wagner lecture fifty years ago."

PERSISTENT

Early in his political life, Disraeli stood for a certain Middlesex borough for the Conservative interest. He was canvassing personally and solicited the vote of a well-to-do farmer of doubtful political convictions.

"Vote for you!" cried the farmer. "Why, I'd vote for the devil sooner!"

"Quite so," retorted Disraeli, imperturbably. 'But in the event of your friend not running, may I hope for your vote?"

OTTAWA AND GAZA

EXTERNAL MISSES THE POINT

Regretfully we state that the reply of the Department of External Affairs to our report on the three Israelis turned over to the Egyptians last August is not fully satisfactory. "The article in The Canadian Jewish News," the statement of the Department of External Affairs declares, "appeared to criticize Canada for not securing their release."

We believe that Ottawa missed the very point in our report. What was criticized in The Canadian Jewish News is that the UNEF in which Canada participates had turned over to Egypt three innocent people when they still were in No Man's Land whither apparently they were misled by agents provocateurs. Because of this faux pas, it was the duty of all participating powers in the UNEF to secure the release of these melon peddlers without the Israelis having to exchange them for convicted spies.

ZIONISM HERE

THE CHALLENGE OF OUR TIME

Max Goody, the new president of the Central Region of the Zionist Organization of Canada, will have to dismiss all cliché slogans and redundant resolutions adopted at the last convention in London if he is to succeed in convincing the people about a continuous role for his movement in our province and, for that matter, in the Diaspora at large.

A prominent Zionist leader of this city, in fact, one of the veterans and most dedicated Zionist workers here, Herzl Zion Club president Mort Margolius reportedly told the last convention point blank: if the Zionist Organization is to survive, it must sell a product that the community needs. This Zionist leader described candidly and simply what has been expressed time and again by such eminent Jews as David Ben Gurion who questioned the present function of a Zionist organization in the lands of Jewish dispersion.

We could go on endlessly describing what the Zionist movement is not. Mr. Goody, who is known as a man of Hebrew culture and dedication to Jewish values, must ask himself what his organization will contribute during the coming year. Will it, by action, by deeds, help Israel, help make our community richer in Jewish values, strengthen its dedication to the ideals of our people? In a positive answer to these questions lies the magic formula of success for his administration.

PERTINENT REMINDER

THE U.J.A. DRIVE

In his impressive address at the recent anniversary celebration of the State of Israel, Toronto's UJA chairman, Morris B. Kaufman reminded the community that if Judaism is to survive, Jewish education must be strengthened.

This is a point which may be lost to many among those who consider the role of the United Jewish Appeal.

True, the United Jewish Appeal means aid and succor to distressed communities overseas. It spells the continuous consolidation of Israel as a home for those who are in need of refuge. Last but not least, however, it signifies the strengthening of those institutions of education without which, as chairman Kaufman poignantly remarked, "there can be no Jewish life here."

This year's United Jewish Appeal may become one of the most successful in a long time. There is a great, potential interest among those ready to contribute; but it also is evident that there is a need for more voluntary workers who would approach a larger number of those eager to listen and help.

In this sense, one can paraphrase the famous talmudic dictum, that he who makes one give sometimes is more important than he who contributes himself.

In order to bring this year's UJA campaign to a successful termination a greater mobilization of volunteers to carry the message of the greatest Jewish philanthropic organization in history from home to home is imperative.

CRISIS IN CBC

OUIMET AND ROCKWELL

The recent controversy involving CBC, especially the popular "Seven Days" production, leaves one wondering who should be fired or who ought to resign. For, according to CBC president, Alphonse Ouimet, he is the one responsible for "CBC's record of courageous broadcasting."

According to Mr. Ouimet, one of the daring and positive contributions of CBC was the infamous appearance of rabblerouser George Lincoln Rockwell, which he "had permitted."

Canadian television viewers still remember with disgust this interview with the self-proclaimed U.S. Nazi leader who had received on the CBC Seven Days program publicity which no one could buy for millions. Thus not only is Producer Douglas Leiterman responsible for that sensational and obnoxious projection of Rockwell into the living room of millions of Canadians but, in the words of Mr. Ouimet himself, that program had been cleared by him.

We still recall the wave of protest from incensed Canadians in all walks of life; the aroused Parliament; the reaction from different organizations and offended individuals.

Now that Mr. Ouimet places this unheard of Rockwell show into the commendable category of CBC programs, we wonder whether he realizes that this Nazi interview falls into the class of shows clearly offensive to a group of residents of Canada. Would Mr. Ouimet have contemplated with the same serenity and pride in achievement a similar program against French Canadians, Catholics or Protestants?

Thus the question remains: who really is to blame for the mess in the CBC management?

WELCOME TO TORONTO

CONSERVATIVE RABBIS MEET

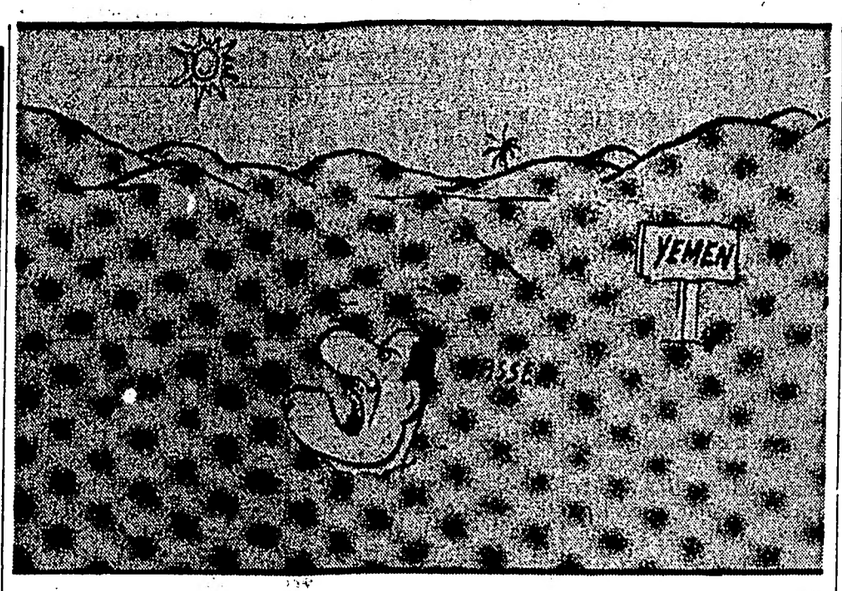
The Toronto Jewish community is proud to welcome the distinguished members of America's Conservative rabbinate who are meeting here this coming week for the convention of the Rabbinical Assembly.

The Rabbinical Assembly and the Conservative religious movement which it represents have been in the forefront of the battle for Jewish survival on this continent since the days when Sabato Morais, Solomon Schechter and Cyrus Adler had laid the foundation for this new expression of Judaism. Whether one does agree or not with the philosophy of Conservative Judaism, no one can deny the many positive contributions of this movement to the development of a Jewish community in North America.

Under the leadership of brilliant and dedicated Louis Finkelstein, the Jewish Theological Seminary, alma mater of Conservative rabbis, has produced a number of spiritual leaders active throughout North America who have projected many a community from passivity regarding Jewish future and the survival of our people into the role of active participation in the molding of a society conscious of its historic mission.

Many may feel that the Conservative movement has not safeguarded always tradition as the late Solomon Schechter and his successor, Louis Finkelstein, saw it. But one also should remember that no movement within North American Jewry is uniform and synchronized in its operation and the practise of Judaism. There are diverse approaches to Torah and Living Judaism within the Conservative movement as there are various attitudes and opinions within Reform and Orthodoxy. One only can wish that in the nearest future all those responsible for the teaching of Judaism, for interpreting Jewish values, irrelevant of label, will come closer in order to give more Jewish content to the communities on this continent where the opportunity for development of our traditions is greater than ever or anywhere else.

All of us know that Judaism is established on the rocks of Sinai. The rest is but commentary.



Lurie in Yediot Ahronot, Tel Aviv.

ISRAEL AND THE BOMB

by Meyer Asher

HAIFA. — In no country is it possible to conduct a comprehensive debate on the non-proliferation of nuclear arms — because whoever has reliable information prefers not to reveal it, while those who talk freely are not the most competent.

Israel is no exception in this respect, but recent events will certainly stimulate nuclear research.

One is the change in the composition of the Israel Atomic Energy Commission. Israel's "Mr. Atom." Prof. Ernst Bergmann, who headed the Commission for the past 14 years, has resigned. The chairmanship of the Commission was assumed by the Prime Minister Levi Eshkol, in person. He will be advised by Prof. I. Dostrovski, of the Hebrew University.

Before resigning, Prof. Bergmann stated that one achievement of Israel's nuclear research was that the public knew so little about it. Because of this it is difficult to point to the causes of these important changes. It is, however, considered certain that the stepping down of the scientist, Prof. Bergmann, and the assumption of authority by the Prime Minister, have more meaning than an ordinary reshuffle.

Another factor enlivening the nuclear debate is the resumption in Geneva of the nuclear disarmament talks. It is noted here that the American delegation appears more determined than ever to come to an agreement on nuclear arms non-proliferation.

Perhaps the main factor in the debate in Israel is the intensification of the Middle East arms race, with Russia preparing new deliveries to Egypt, Iraq and Syria, and the West delivering to Jordan and Saudi Arabia. It is Israel's duty to maintain a balance of power.

Against this background, it is noted that the Soviet Embassy in Tel Aviv, headed by the Ambassador, Mr. Dimitri Chuvakhin, is busily campaigning in support of a nuclear demilitarisation of the Mediterranean basin.

Being unable to reach an agreement for a ban with Turkey and Persia, Russia was prepared to carry out a limited programme of nuclear demilitarisation between Israel and the Arab States, the Soviet diplomats stated.

This campaign's importance should not be underestimated. The idea of a Middle East nuclear demilitarisation is widely favoured by political circles in Israel. If there is disagreement, it is between those who favour unconditional demilitarisation and those who want it under certain terms.

END OF STALEMATE

Responsible circles insist that Israel leaders should ask themselves a few questions before taking a definite stand.

The first is: To what measure would the ban of nuclear arms reduce the danger of development of other non-conventional weapons in the Arab countries, especially in Egypt? Secondly, to what extent would a nuclear ban reduce the danger of war between Israel and the Arab States with conventional arms at a time when the arsenals of the Arab States are being filled with modern Soviet and Western arms?

A third question concerns the willingness of the Arab States to neotiate with Israel. If negotiations could be brought about, even on this one point, Israel would be tempted to accept.

The very existence of direct discussion would end the tragic stalemate of isolation between the parties and could serve as a starting point for more comprehensive talks. But is it within the capability of Soviet diplomacy to bring Israelis and Arabs to the conference table?

Furthermore, is it within the power of Moscow and Washington to guarantee that the new nuclear Power, China, which is not a signatory of the Moscow test ban agreement of 1963, would abstain from interference in the Middle East?

Then there is India, the most advanced among the candidates for "nuclear option." India and Egypt maintain active nuclear cooperation. Even if so far New Delhi preferred to rely on the American nuclear umbrella rather than develop nuclear arms of its own, how could a ban in the Middle East, without hermetically closing its back door, prevent dangerous "nuclear nervousness" on the part of the other signatories?

Israelis consider it axiomatic that in the Middle East as elsewhere peace depends on deterrence. Therefore any addition to Israel's potential is a factor contributing to Middle East peace. If this proved to be the case in the past 18 years, they say, how much truer is it at present, when renewed Soviet arms deliveries to the Arabs threaten to destroy the precarious balance of power in the region.

Israel's Deputy Minister of Defence, Zvi Dinstein, has explicitly given warning that there is a limit to the possibility of maintaining a balance of power through quality in the face of overwhelming quantity. Israel therefore considers power not only a condition for existence but a first-class political factor for the maintenance of Middle East stability.

Israelis realise that nuclear non-proliferation is important, but the prevention of war with conventional arms, with which the Egyptians destroy Yemenite villages and the Iraqis Kurdish ones, is even more important. It is against this background that, when discussing nuclear non-proliferation, the leaders of Israel will have to show extraordinary political foresight, strong nerves and an unshakeable faith in the justice of their cause.

CONSPIRACY AGAINST ANTI-NAZI AGENCY

KARLSRUHE, (JCNS) — An American citizen living in West Germany hes been remanded on charges that he and two German friends were planning to dynamite the headquarters of the Central Agency for the Investigation of Nazi Crimes at Landwigsburg, the press office of the Federal Prosecutor has disclosed.

Although the spokesman for the Federal Prosecutor said there was no doubt that Reinhold Ruppe, 24, the American citizen, and one of the Germans planned a campaign of violence against persons and institutions connected with the prosecution of war criminals, only Ruppe was remanded; the other two were set free.

Ruppe was arrested last weekend when he was seen photographing the Central Agency's building. Police searched his home and found a pistol and draft plans for the bombing of the building.

The spokesman said that Ruppe had admitted the plot. Later, at the home of Erich Lindner, 34, police found several pistols and ammunition as well as ignition cables, a time fuse and dynamite.

Ruppe and Lindner were reported to have admitted that they tried unsuccessfully to break into an explosives magazine last summer for the dynamite they needed to realize their plans.

Proceedings against the two men have been instituted by the Federal Supreme Court on charges of conspiracy and underground activities. It was not explained why Lindner was not detained nor what had happened to the third man.

The prosecutor's office said that no evidence had been found so far of any contacts between the three men and rightist political organization in West Germany

Meanwhile the Stuttgart prosecutor-general is continuing his investigation of the head of the Central Agency, Herr Erwin Schuele. He has been accused by the Soviet authorities of complicity in Nazi crimes against the Russian civilian population during the war .

An investigation was started then dropped for lack of evidence; it now has been reinstated on the receipt of an official note from the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

THE SEVEN DAYS

AMBASSADOR AVNER GOES NON-DIPLOMAT

Antisemitism In Canada

The statement by Ambassador Gershon Avner, Israel's envoy to Canada, on Sunday during an address to students at Ottawa's Notre Dame High School has been received with both interest and criticism. The Ambassador, in his speech to Catholic students, rightly traced the history of Jewish persecutions to the presentation of the story of Crucifixion in the New Testament but his comment on antisemitism in Canada has been received with some misgivings.

According to the Canadian Press, Ambassador Avner told the audience that it is "quite acceptable to displav prejudice against Jews in private" but not in public. He also shocked some listeners by stating that 'there was a whisper campaign against Jews in Canada."

When The Canadian Jewish News phoned the Israeli embassy, asking whether such statement actually was made by His Excellency, the report in general was termed correct.

Other points from Ambassador Avner's statement:

● If a Jew does something good, he is a Canadian;. if he does something bad, he's a Jew.

● The Vatican Council should be praised for absolving "the Jewish people" of "guilt' in the death of Jesus.

● Hitler's persecution was only a culmination of all this (some church teachings about Jews).

QUEBEC JEWS' NEW EMANCIPATION

The New Educational System

The report in Saturday's La Presse, according to which the Parent Royal Commission of Quebec will recommend basic changes in Quebec's school system in order to recognize the Province's "pluralist society", has aroused profound interest among the Jews of Montreal.

Jewish students, as it is known, have been forced till now to attend Protestant schools. The schools in Quebec all are denominational and the fact that the Jewish Protestant school system because of the prevalence of English in these institutions have placed the Jewish minority in a most peculiar position.

Now, according to what is known from the recommendations of this Commission (not yet officially published), a new era for Jewish education may dawn upon Montreal Jewry, the largest community in the country. Finally it may be possible for Jews to have their own schools and not be tied to a linguistic and religious minority with which they have little affinity.

SERMON OF THE WEEK

THE LAW

It is unfashionable nowadays to speak of sin, penitence and atonement. Sin seems to have become a word repugnant to a certain type of modern mind, more concerned with evading responsibility than with facing the facts of life. Yet we cannot do without the concept of sin if we are serious about trying to understand the nature of men. The sketchiest acquaintance with modern psychology would surely lead to this conclusion, even if the entire experience of the twentieth century had not driven it home with tragic force.

These are some of the issues which challenge the reader of the concluding portion of Leviticus —the chapter of "rebuke" or "admonition" (Tochachah), the concept of reward for obedience, and punishment in Judaism. The Jewish philosophers of the Middle Ages all included it as an essential dogma of the faith, at a time when they felt the need to describe Judaism in terms of what they regarded as its basic credo. Maimonides reduced the 613 Mitzvot to thirteen Articles of the Faith. Two centuries later, Hassdai Crescas reduced them further to six; while Joseph Albo, also of the 14th century, taught that all Jewish doctrine was ultimately derived from just three fundamental teachings: viz. the Existence of God; Revelation; and Reward and Punishment.

So deeply was this belief implanted in the consciousness of the Jew that it helped him to accept his lot and interpret for himself the role in which history had cast him. "On account of our sins (Mipnei Chataenu) were we exiled from our land," he was taught to pray. A world without justice and a moral law was inconceivable to the Jew; and when misfortune befell him he looked inwards to find the reason and the cause. The evil persecutor was merely the temporary instrument for his chastisement. Such an outlook inspired a humility, and a consequent elevation of spirit and mind over body and matter.

Of course the wider problem of good and evil is involved in this context. Right from Job, and earlier, man has been confronted with the suffering and frustration of many righteous, while apparently wicked men prospered. It was this problem which led to the development of the rabbinic view of reward and punishment in the world to come—not merely in the here and now. The pious Jew is content to leave the decision to the justice and superior knowledge and wisdom of God, believing with the psalmist that "the Lord is nigh unto all who call unto Him, to all who call upon Him in truth". Many things which may seem good to us may not be quite so good as viewed with the comprehensive vision of the All-Knowing God.

The history and experience of humanity—and perhaps even more particularly of the Jewish people—have amply confirmed this belief that right is rewarded and wrong punished. Yet modern life and thought have been recklessly discarding the principle of the implied moral law —the idea that sin degrades. As a result we have witnessed alarming symptoms of arrogance covering an inner insecurity and anxiety and leading all too often to friction and a breakdown in relationships on personal, family and even national levels. The "Tochachah" should be read not as a list of fearful calamities intended to terrify a primitive people in the wilderness, but as a salutary lesson to all generations in discipline and humility.

HUMAN RELATIONS

Unhappy Mother

DR. ROSE N. FRANZBLAU

QUESTION: I am a heartbroken mother. Married for 26 years, I can honestly say that they weren't happy ones. My oldest son 22, got married 1½ years ago, and has a little girl, 4 months old.

I know my son would feel very happy if his father would visit him. The point is his father isn't the visiting type. He has been over at their home for special occasions only. They have asked him many times.

They visit with her mother more often. Her mother works and can only see them week-ends.

My son's wife is moody, so I keep my distance and stay home unless she calls me. I am very upset over this.

My other three sons haven't given me any trouble. My husband has given them the best, not not what they needed, namely, to be close to their dad.

ANSWER: Misdirected hositility is often the cause of tensions that can lead to unnecessary suffering on the part of all concerned. When it happens occasionally between husband and wife, it is within the normal range. However, when this is the usual pattern of behavior, the target of such treatment will leave altogether, fight back with fury and violence, or retreat into silence. This withdrawal is seen by the attacker as even more punishing than anything the mate can say. When he doesn't respond to her barbs, the wife feels that he is not responding or being responsive to her love or to her concern. The self-immobilization is a form of self-protection. As long as he stays put he is in control of the situation and can ward off any surprise attacks.

Part of your unhappiness may come from the timing of your son's marriage. Not only did he marry too young, but he became a father too soon.

For all this, you blame his father. More than not being the visiting kind, you feel that your husband hasn't been the supervising kind. Had he taken a stronger stand and been more authoritative, you feel your son might have been stopped from getting involved so early.

Another source of your upset may be your daughter-in-law's relationship with her parents. That her mother works and therefore has free time only over the weekends does not seem enough reason for alloting all the weekends to them.

You admit your husband has done his best for the children. Yet you criticize him for not being close enough to them. Perhaps the closeness that you miss is that would would permit the father to reprimand the son for not conforming to your wishes.

If after 26 years of marriage, not being the "visiting type" is your husband's only weakness, you have been very fortunate in your choice of a mate. If you agitate less, he would probably visit them more. With a loving and appreciative wife at his side, which would enhance his inner prestige, he would give himself the pleasure of visiting his son more often.

DUMB LIKE A FOX

By RUTHIE

Mother's Day is always a surprise in my family. Even though I may know what I'm getting, still I never can tell if what I want is remembered.

Last Mother's Day started off like any other. The kids kissed me good morning, just like any other Mother's Day. The little one asked me for the hundredth time if I liked her poem. And for the hundredth time I said it was the best present I ever got—it came from the heart. Anyway, as she explained apologetically, she couldn't afford to spend any money; her last twelve cents went for comics. I assured her, even if she had a million dollars, a poem was just what I wanted; it was something money couldn't buy.

The older children came across handsomely. But, as I always say, it's the thought that counts.

My lord and master promised we'd have dinner out. (I can't picture myself without an apron on.) Fine. But when the time came, I really had no khoishick (desire). What for? When I'm on a diet? But the problem solved itself.

Mother's Day, you know, coincided with Lag B'Omer. Heather informed us her group was going on an all-day hike. Could she go?

Nu, so I should make her stay home because of me?

"Honest, Mommy, you won't feel bad? Even if it's Mother's Day? Oh, boy! We're going to roast weenies."

So, if a mother can't understand, it's just too bad.

Anyhow, it was a present just the same. Imagine not being able to scold her all day long because I had to be nice to suit the occasion. This way, as long as I knew she was safe and having fun, I couldn't think of a better way to rest my nerves. So all in all, it was a nice present.

Number two. After the formalities of "Happy Mother's Day," the other children dispersed. They had dates. So that left the two of us.

Dinner! With a fridge full of food, I needed to go out? I'd look at him, he'd look at me, it wasn't as if it were an anniversary, we'd discuss the menu awhile — what's too fat, what gives heartburn, what's different.

Ekh! It wasn't necessary. As long as the kids were out, I'd have a bigger mitzva if I slept.

And I did. I'm telling you, it was a treat. When is there ever time to sleep?

So all in all, it was the best Mother's Day I had. Who needed attention dofka (just) that day? The tooml (confusion) that goes along with it and what I'd have to do to make up for it I could do without.

You must think I'm dumb. Like a fox.

Did you ever see someone who didn't want her cake and eat it too? Well, now that I feel refreshed, I made sure to remind the kids to warn Daddy I haven't forgotten his promise in a weak moment. I'm giving him till Father's Day to produce the diamond necklace I want.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

CHEESE FILLED CRESCENT ROLLS

1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
¼ cup lukewarm water
1 teaspoon granulated sugar
1 envelope fast rising active dry yeast
5 cups (about) pre-sifted all-purpose flour
½ cup chilled butter or margarine
1 well-beaten egg
2 dozen fingers process cheese
1 slightly-beaten egg white
1 tablespoon water
Salt

Scald milk; stir in the 1 teaspoon salt and the 2 tablespoons sugar. Cool to lukewarm. Meanwhile measure lukewarm water into a measuring cup; stir in the 1 teaspoon sugar. Sprinkle with yeast. Let stand 10 minutes, then stir well. Sift 2½ cups of the flour into a large bowl. Cut butter or margarine in finely Stir dissolved yeast and beat until smooth and elastic. Stir in only enough additional flour to make a soft dough' about 2¼ to 2½ cups more. Turn out on floured board or canvas and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl. Grease top. Cover. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Cut 24 fingers of process cheese 2 inches x ½ inch x ½ inch. Punch dough down. Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas and knead until smooth.

Divide dough into 3 equal portions and shape into smooth balls. Roll out one ball of dough into a round 10 inches in diameter and brush with melted butter or margarine; cut dough into 8 pie-shaped wedges. Place a finger of cheese on rounded edge of each piece of dough and roll up toward the point. Place each roll, well apart, on a cookie sheet, points under and shape slightly into crescents. Repeat with the remaining balls of dough. Grease tops. Cover with a tea towel. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 40 minutes. Brush tops with a mixture of slightly beaten egg white and water and sprinkle lightly with salt. Bake in a hot over (400 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: 2 dozen rolls.

FAMILIAR TRIO HERE. - The popular Israeli Geula Gill Trio, who, with the 4 Ayalons — Israel's contribution to the world of comedy — will appear at Toronto's Royal Alexandra Theater for one week commencing Monday, May 23rd. Since tickets are going like hot cakes, it is advisable to purchase them now at the box office, personally or by phone.

● The manuscript of a play in Yiddish by Franz Kafka, The Fly and the Lamp, has been found in an old house in Prague. It has been given to a publishing house in Vienna for translation and publication in German.

● Director Michael Gordon was all set to shoot a scene in Texas Across The River, starring Dean Martin, Alain Delon, Rosemary Forsyth, Joey Bishop, when he noticed one thing out of place. Bishop, who portrays an Indian, was wearing his bar mitzvah ring.

● Charles Chaplin, directing Universal's A Countess from Hong Kong, insists production schedules haven't changed over the years. Though "Countess" will shoot for 12 weeks, his first movie, Tillie's Punctured Romance, made 52 years ago, took 14 weeks to film.

● Isaiah Rappaport, Hollywood's barber for the stars, is making his acting debut in Moment to Moment, starring Jean Seberg, Honor Blackman and Sean Garrison. His role? The barber who cuts actor Arthur Hill's hair in the film.

● Jules C. Stein, MCA Board Chairman and a founder of the Hollywood Canteen, has been elected president of the Hollywood Canteen Foundation by the Board of Directors, succeeding Bette Davis who has served as president since the founding of the organization in 1942.

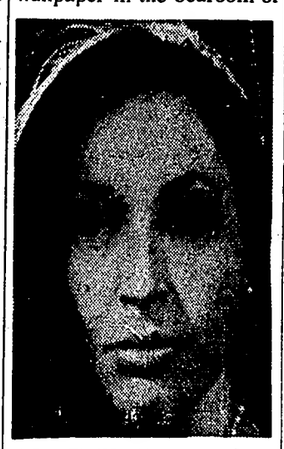
● Sammy Cahn and Jimmy Van Heusen have been set by producer Harry Keller to write a title song for, Texas Across the River. Cahn and Van Heusen have won two Academy Awards for best song, High Hopes, and, All the Way. In addition, Cahn won an Oscar for Three Coins in the Fountain, for which he wrote the lyrics.

● Stan Margulies, producer of Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines, has been signed by Universal to a long term exclusive contract as a producer. He made his bow as such with "40 Pounds of Trouble," starring Tony Curtis. Prior to entering production ranks, Margulies had been one of Hollywood's leading publicists.

● Stuart Whitman, currently starring in Warner Bros. motion picture, An American Dream, by Norman Miller, has been offered the starring stage role in Hemingway's Heroes, the dramatization of Papa, A. E. Hotchner's biography of Ernest Hemingway. The play is scheduled to go into rehearsal in 30 days.

Whitman stars with Janet Leigh, Eleanor Parker, Barry Sullivan, Lloyd Nolan, Les Crane and Warren Stevens in An American Dream.

● While in Hollywood for his starring role in Gambit, Michael Caine collected menus from nearly every restaurant in town. What for? He plans to use them as wallpaper in the bedroom of his apartment in London.



NEW THESPIAN. - Linda Shapiro, who will perform in Showoff, written by George Kelly, at Toronto's Poor Alex, week of Monday, May 24th.

● Charles Chaplin agreed to let his daughter, Geraldine, make a cameo appearance in A Countess From Hong Kong on one condition: that she give up bubble gum.

● Modern civilization finally has caught up with the time honored saying, "drinks are on the house." When the Tobruk company jetted back to the studio from location on a chartered plane, a stewardess announced that "the drinks were on the airplane."

SHOWGOER SERIES

Out of ten attractions for O'Keefe Center's 1966-67 Showgoer series, four are definite to play at O'Keefe, the other two at the Royal Alex.

At O'Keefe are: Showboat, a new production of the great American classic with music by Jerome Kern and lyrics by Oscar Hammerstein II, based on the novel by Edna Ferber, scheduled to open at the Center October 10th for two weeks; Fiddler on The Roof, now in its 85th week on Broadway, for two weeks starting November 7th; At the Drop of Another Hat, the nonsense revue with Donald Swann and Michael Flanders, commencing for two weeks on November 28th; Man of La Mancha, January 2, 1967, the Cervantes-Don Quixote musical; The Odd Couple, Neil Simon's funny play staged by Mike Nichols, starring George Gobel, for four weeks starting September 12, at the Royal Alex; Generation, a comedy concerning a midwestern advertising executive who visits his daughter in her Greenwich Village loft, starting December 12th, also at the Royal Alex. O'Keefe is negotiating for You Never Can Tell, On A Clear Day You Can See Forever, Robert and Elizabeth, Barnum.

EVERYBODY'S FAVORITE

Pinocchio, the musical fantasy for the entire family, brings a 6-day-13 performance engagement at the Royal Alexandra Theater on Tuesday afternoon, May 17th, full of surprises. The fast-paced musical will present special effects of humorous characters and marionettes. There are big characters, two to six feet tall; every detail of their colorful costumes is visible from the farthest corner of the theater.

Pinocchio's nose actually lengthens each time the Blue Fairy discovers him telling an untruth; the hugh eyes of the Great Carnivorous Catfish climaxes the suspense in the scene under the sea; forest scenes are brought to life. Bobby Clark is creator and director of Pinocchio. He introduces new characters inculding the Calico Dancing Elephant, Oliver Octopus Esquire, The Purple Ostrich Ballerina, Jellyfish in Six Flavors, clowns, toy soldiers, sea creatures and animals.

ONE MORE WEEK

After one more week of the Cole Porter Show at Old Angelo's, Louis Negin will be presenting it at the Royal Embassy in Montreal, hopefully for the entire summer if its run here is any indication. Dinah Christie, who has completed her performances in Seven Days, will continue with the Cole Porter Show. Plans are to return here in September with something new and just as good.

SUMMER THEATER OPENS

The Garden Center Theater in Vineland will open June 20th, with Cathy Crosby who will star in Mary, Mary. It will run till the 25th. Husband Bing will be with her.

WELCOME VISITOR

Bennett Cerf, well known personality in the literary field, will speak at Eaton Auditorium on Wednesday May 18th, 8:30 p.m. Past president and currently chairman of the Board of Random House, author of humorous stories, Mr. Cerf still has time to write a daily feature, Try and Stop Me, which is syndicated in over 600 newspapers every day.

AT THE MOVIES

SALLAH: THE ORIENTAL SHLEMIEL

by BARBARA I. PEARL

If a film is entertainment, Sallah, now running at Toronto's Capitol Theater, is one of the finest we have seen here in the last few months. It is humorous, at moments, hilarious, without any vulgar features usually associated with a comedy. If this is a sample of Israel's new film industry, we can expect more artistic surprises from the Jewish state so far as movies are concerned.

Sallah, the title role of a story by Hebrew satirist Ephraim Kishon, is played by a truly great actor, Hayim Topol. Topol is impressive, true to life, without charge —really natural. Even his tragic expressions are partly veiled in thin satire, which always is the characterist of art. Tragedy in true art rarely saddens the soul when the finesse of performance and prose is there. Both are ample in Kishon's Sallah and in the performance of the star and his supporting cast.

The story is about the adjustment of new immigrants to life in Israel. Sallah, a newcomer from an Oriental country, arrives in the Holy Land believing the fulfillment of the prophesy of the Messiah—when according to folklore, bread will grow on trees and one would not have to work; houses will be free, fruit and milk and honey will be there for one's taking. But soon he faces the reality of a modern society with its features of injustice.

A simple man, meek and honest, Sallah is shocked by the way the Jewish National Fund publicity agent displaces signs in a fledgling forest in order to mislead contributors from America that these are plantations to perpetuate their names. But this too is done wih a smile, obviously exaggerated to make the comedy more lively.

The story of the maabarot, the transient camps for immigrants and the heartless bureaucrats of Jewish charity organizations are rendered with light irony yet are almost true to life. While one enjoys the humor and has a good laugh, one also thinks about the many who are exposed to red tape when seeking a home and a new life.

In toto, a film to see and to enjoy.

CRITICIZE DR. GOLDMANN FOR GERMAN ROLE; CRISIS FACES CANADIAN JEWISH CONGRESS

It declared that Adenauer should be thanked by the Germans not by the Israelis. The opposition to the visit of Adenauer, according to the Israeli news agency, consisted of a demonstration of students on the Hebrew University campus and some "two-dozen Communist demonstrators at the airport."

Because of the anti-Adenauer demonstration at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, a scheduled visit to Bar Ilan University was cancelled at the last moment.

GOLDMANN SPEAKS GERMAN

● The big event was at the Weizmann Institute in Rehovot where the German Statesman received an honorary citation.

Adenauer was very much moved by his reception in Israel. He pledged support for "the Jewish people, once again rooted in this land." He also spoke of the Jewish people as humanity's "Lebensbaum" (tree of life).

In Rehovot at the Weizmann Institute, after accepting an honorary fellowship the German leader declared: "Since my first day as Chancelor, it has been one of my deepest wishes to bring about such a conciliation."

● Dr. Nahum Goldmann, president of the World Jewish Congress, who opened the ceremony, spoke both in Hebrew and in German. He praised Adenauer as "a man who has shown understanding for the difficulty and importance of trying to normalize relations between the Jewish people and post-Hitler Germany."

● While at the Institute, Dr. Adenauer conferred with the West German scientists working there: Dr. J. Daboul; Dr. Hermann Paul Ingartinger; Dr. Karl Kruger; Dr. Florian Scheck; Dr. N. Sommer; Dr. Karl Wagner.

● The most stirring moment of the sojourn (according to Adenauer himself) was his visit to Yad Vashem. In honor of Adenauer, a special memorial service was arranged in the Ohel Yiskor (Remembrance Crypt). Dr. Adenauer was accompanied by the West German Ambassador, Rolf Pauls, and Dr. Nahum Goldmann. The president of the World Jewish Congress constantly was at Dr. Adenauer's side throughout the tour.

There in the memorial hall for the martyrs, Yad Vashem's expert on German Jewry, Dr. Barukh Ophir pinned on Adenauer's lapel a Yiskor emblem. He then made a speech wherein he cited Dr. Adenauer's pro-Zionism as dating back to 1927.

RECEIVES MENORAH

The memorial service started with the reading of psalms which Dr. Adenauer and his party followed from a German translation by Martin Buber. The German leader then was asked to turn on the eternal memorial flame with a poker. A cantor chanted the traditional prayers. A Canadian, Mr. Edward Gelber who is a member of the Yad Vashem executive, then presented Dr. Adenauer with Yad Vashem's six-branched memorial candelabrum.

The president of the World Jewish Congress, Dr. Nahum Goldmann, gave his first reception for the former chancelor. While many Cabinet members, supreme court justices and Knesset members attended, members of Herut and two Leftist groups were absent.

● There was one debating point between Eshkol and Adenauer. It occured at the official dinner given in Adenauer's honor by the Israeli Prime Minister. Eshkol declared, "We have not forgotten, and cannot forget, the holocaust."

Adenauer, taken aback, replied: "Our people was indeed responsible for what happened. But we should endeavor to heal the wounds."

● A number of Canadian members of Jewish groups which in the past had urged the Canadian Jewish Congress to combat the reconciliation policy of the World Jewish Congress told this newspaper that they were aghast to see that, while the Prime Minister of Israel expressed his remembrance of the past, Dr. Nahum Goldmann, who also represents the Canadian Jewish Congress, had praised Adenauer constantly in all his speeches.

● Some opponents of the reconciliation policy with Germany expect the Canadian Jewish Congress to issue a statement declaring it is not responsible for Dr. Nahum Goldmann's speeches during the Adenauer visit in Israel.

MINOR INCIDENTS MAR THE VISIT

The Adenauer visit in Israel has been marred with some minor incidents. In fact, the New York Times reported that observers in the Holy Land have been surprised by the fact that in all protests against the visit of the German statesman only several hundred people were involved in a nation where hundreds of thousands are survivors of Nazi concentration camps.

The Israeli government also has made a special effort to explain to Dr. Adenauer that the statement by Prime Minister Eshkol about the unforgotten past does not imply that Israel rejects a new future with democratic West Germany. Quite to the contrary, it will work with all liberal forces in Bonn for a better morrow and better understanding.

Dr. Adenauer was especially pleased by the toast at a luncheon given by Dr. Nahum Goldmann in which the German statesman was called by the president of the World Jewish Congress "the man whose vision, courage and conscience made the restitution program possible."

Dr. Goldmann also declared that, thanks to Dr. Adenauer, "something like nine to ten billion dollars had been paid to Israel and the individual survivors of the Nazi terror. The Israeli government alone has received payments of $823 million and "a very large part" of the restitution money "went to Nazis' victims in Israel," he added.

"The contribution these payments have made to the development of the Israeli economy and to its industry in particular cannot be overestimated," Dr. Goldmann concluded.

OMSIP enrollment period extended to May 16th

Ontario Health Minister Dr. M. B. Dymond has announced that residents of the Province may still receive full Ontario Medical Services Insurance Plan coverage and benefits by July 1st providing they enroll in the Plan before May 16th.

"The Plan is a success," declared the Minister. "The number of applications received already cover more than 1,100,000 of our citizens."

Dr. Dymond added, however, that a large number of residents had indicated they would join OMSIP but for a variety of reasons had been unable to send in their application in time. The OMSIP open enrollment period has therefore been extended by two weeks in order that these persons may qualify for coverage from the day the Plan goes into effect on July 1st.

"The May 16th deadline is final," added the minister. "This enrollment deadline cannot be extended any further because it takes time to process such a flood of applications even with the most modern equipment available."

The extension of the open enrollment period means that those residents who have already enrolled, and those who enroll before May 16th, will be protected by OMSIP, beginning July 1st.

Ontario residents who enroll after May 16th will have to undergo a minimum three month waiting period before they are entitled to OMSIP coverage and benefits, said Dr. Dymond.

OMSIP head office is located at 135 St. Clair West, Toronto. Applications are already being processed by modern micro-photo methods and computers.

OLD AGE PENSIONERS

Many old age pensioners have automatically been enrolled in OMSIP but most must fill in and submit an application.

Those who will get automatic coverage are pensioners who are presently receiving benefit under The Ontario Old Age Assistance Act, or those pensioners who have been declared eligible for coverage by the Ontario Department of Welfare. These pensioners have already received their OMSIP registration cards.

All other pensioners must complete and submit an application to receive OMSIP coverage.

If you have not received an OMSIP registration card, or have not already sent in an application form, you must apply before May 16th for coverage when the Plan starts on July 1st.

Notification of acceptance to be sent out shortly

People who have already enrolled in OMSIP need not apply a second time.

Dr. Dymond stated that their applications are now being processed, and their notification will arrive in the mail very soon.

OMSIP BENEFITS

OMSIP provides practically all physicians' services as benefits including:

- Doctor visits in the home, office or hospital.
- Diagnosis and treatment of illnesses and injuries.
- Diagnosis, pre-operation care and treatment, surgery and post-operation care.
- Obstetrical care, including pre-natal and post-natal care effective from the date of enrollment.
- Anaesthesia and X-rays for diagnostic, surgical and other procedures.
- Treatment of fractures and dislocations.
- Certified specialist services at established rates when you are referred to the specialist by your doctor.
- Certain dental surgical services performed in a hospital.

NOTE: OMSIP will not pay for the cost of hospitalization. OMSIP is an additional service, not a substitute for Ontario Hospital Insurance. You will still require coverage by Hospital Insurance.

OMSIP IS VOLUNTARY—
APPLICATION IS NECESSARY

OMSIP is a voluntary plan and you can cancel your membership at any time.

The government, however, can only cancel memberships in the case of misrepresentation, misuse of services, non-payment of premiums, or 3 months after a member has ceased to be a resident of Ontario.

If you fill out this application and mail it now, you will be eligible for OMSIP coverage beginning July 1st. Otherwise you will have to wait a minimum of 3 months for your coverage to begin.

Since these applications have to be recorded with a micro-photo machine, please print carefully and plainly with a ball point pen only.

SEND YOUR COMPLETED APPLICATION FORM TO

if required, additional application forms are available from any bank, or from OMSIP, 135 St. Clair Ave., West, Toronto 7.

AIR-TO-AIR MISSLES

TEL AVIV (JCNS) — The most up-to-date French-made Air-to-Air missiles — Matra R-530 — have been used for some time by the Israeli Air Force, it is officially announced here. This enables Israel to match the fastest and most destructive supersonic bombers used by the Arabs.

According to Israeli military sources Egypt has received similar Soviet missiles to go with the M.I.G. 21. It also is known that Iraq and Syria have applied for such equipment and it is assumed that Lebanon will receive similar French Matra missiles.

Having acquired the Matra, the Israeli Defence Forces now possess the three "kings" of rockets. The other two are the American ground-to-air Hawks and the French anti-tank S-10 and S-11 rockets.

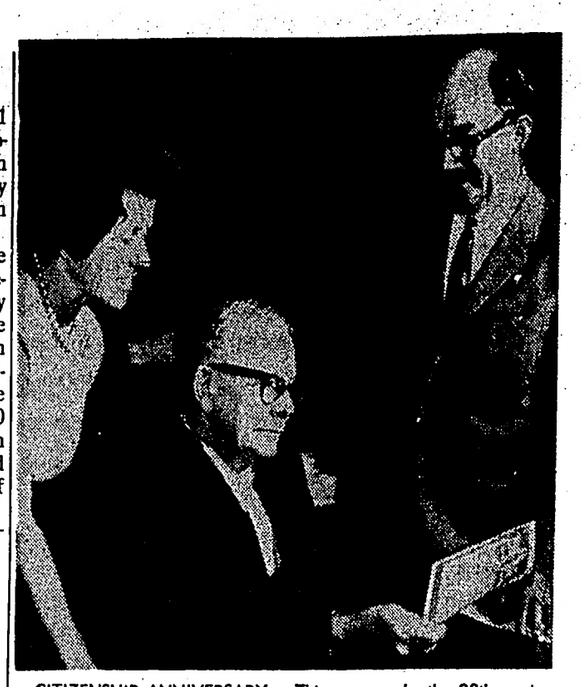
Military sources point out that so far there has been no experience of the Matra in actual battle conditions. Nevertheless they view these missiles as a great asset to Israeli Military power, since the Matra has a range of 21 kilometres and its electro-magnetic homing system pursues and destroys enemy supersonics at night or in overcast conditions.

The Matra will not be shown in the Haifa Independence Parade on May 2nd; it is stated however, the recently acquired American Patton tanks will be on display for the first time. The tanks are equipped with 90 millimetre guns and with 850 horse-power engines, and they can attain a speed of 45 kilometres an hour.

SUCCESSFUL JNF ACTION IN HAMILTON

On Sunday, April 17th, members of the Alpha Lanbda Phi Sorority, Upsilon Lambda Phi Fraternity and Alpha Phi Pi Fraternity undertook and carried through a citywide exchange and collection of Jewish National Fund Blue Boxes, assisted by members of the Hamilton Jewish community and members of the Jewish National Fund Council of Hamilton.

The semi annual collection on behalf of the Jewish National Fund is looked forward to eagerly by the members of the above mentioned Hamilton youth organizations. Much of the credit for the success of this activity is due to Albert Minden, Blue Box chairman of the Hamilton Jewish National Fund Council, under whose guidance and supervision the activity was carried out.

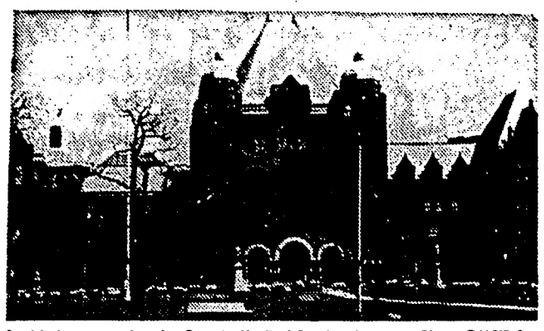


CITIZENSHIP ANNIVERSARY. - This year marks the 20th anniversary of the establishment of Canadian Citizenship. It will be observed by the Ontario Government with a special session of the Court of Canadian Citizenship in the Parliament Buildings, Queen's Park, Wednesday, May 18, during Citizenship Week. This will be the first time that the Court has been held at the Parliament Buildings. A total of 30 Metro Toronto and region residents representing 17 different ethnic groups will formally become citizens of Canada during the ceremony. On photo above Judge W. M. Cory, QC. of the Court of Canadian Citizenship in Toronto, shows one of the citizenship certificates to the Hon. John Yaremko, QC, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Citizenship for Ontario and Mrs. Douglas Jennings, chairman of the Co-ordinating Committee on citizenship receptions of Metro Toronto. The Prime Minister of Ontario, Hon. John Robarts, QC, will speak during the special ceremonies.

NORMAN KESSEL RELEASED

JOHANNESBURG (JCNS) — Mr. Norman Kessel, a lecturer at Cape Town University who had been held for three weeks under the 180-day detention law, was released last week.

No charge is to be preferred against him or against a number of students, mostly Jews, who were arrested at the same time and are still detained.



Legislation approving the Ontario Medical Services Insurance Plan—OMSIP for short—was passed in the Ontario Legislature on Feb. 18th of this year. Coverage commenced April 1st for social assistance recipients. Coverage will begin July 1st for those who have already enrolled, or who enroll now before May 16th.

Many qualify for full or partial assistance

OMSIP PROVIDES COVERAGE REGARDLESS OF AGE, INCOME OR HEALTH

OMSIP has been established to provide adequate insurance coverage for the payment of doctors' bills, and to make this coverage available to all Ontario residents regardless of their age, income or state of health.

Enrollment in OMSIP is voluntary.

The Plan is intended for individuals and their families and does not provide group coverage. (Group coverage is where a number of individuals collectively purchase insurance through their place of employment, union, etc.)

Everyone who has lived in Ontario for the past 3 months is eligible to join, except those who are entitled to physicians' services under another Act.

Members are free to choose their own doctor. If a member travels outside the Province, and requires care, OMSIP will still pay the doctors' bills up to OMSIP established rates.

People who find they cannot continue to pay for all or part of their OMSIP contract because of unemployment, illness or disability, may apply for temporary assistance in paying their fees.

Since the aim of OMSIP legislation is to provide adequate medical insurance for Ontario residents, full or partial premium assistance is available for those who require it.

Automatic fully-paid coverage
Many residents and their dependants have automatically received fully paid coverage under OMSIP. These are people who are already receiving benefits under the following Acts:

- The Blind Persons' Allowances Act
- The Disabled Persons' Allowances Act
- The General Welfare Assistance Act
- The Mothers' Allowances Act
- The Old Age Assistance Act
- The Rehabilitation Services Act

Automatic fully-paid coverage is also provided for old age security pensioners and their dependants declared eligible for coverage by the Ontario Department of Public Welfare.

Fully-paid coverage on application
People resident in Ontario for the past 12 months and who had no taxable income in 1965 get full assistance.
This means if these people make out their application form now, before May 16th, they will get OMSIP protection, fully paid for by the government, starting this July 1st.
In addition, many who have been resident in Ontario for the past 12 months will be eligible for partial assistance, depending on their taxable income and number of dependants. (See below).
